Kish Garners Prestigious H.O.P.E. Award

HSES’ own Dr. Bernie Kish was the 2011 recipient of the H.O.P.E. award. Given each year since 1959, this honor is presented to one outstanding KU professor. A project of the Board of Class Officers, this award is voted on by the senior class and is determined solely by KU students. Dr. Kish was presented his award at half time of the November 12th home football game. Congratulations Bernie on a well-deserved honor!

MLB’s Jim Small Latest Naismith Lecturer

Mr. Jim Small, Vice President of Major League Baseball—Asia and Managing Director of MLB Japan presented the latest installment of the Naismith Lecture Series last September 20th. His talk, titled "From the Green Monster to the Great Wall... Making Baseball the (Inter) National Past Time" focused on Major League Baseball’s efforts to grow the MLB brand and revenues around the world. An alum of KU, Mr. Small presented an intriguing insight on the international nature of the big-time business world of professional baseball. At right is Jim with Korean fans.
Satinsky Studies Body Image & Sexuality

Dr. Sonya Satinsky recently published in Body Image: An International Journal of Research on body appreciation and sexual function in women. A group of 247 women, filled out a survey that included questions about positive feelings they had about their bodies and their sexuality concerns. Her data suggest that women with higher levels of body appreciation (regardless of weight) had increased frequency and levels of sexual arousal, and overall sexual satisfaction. It appears that promoting positive body image in women of all body sizes can improve sexual function and has the potential to impact a significant segment of the population.

HSES Students Earn KAHPERD Awards

The November meeting of KAHPERD at Ft. Hays State University was an opportunity for HSES to showcase some of our top students. Shown are (L to R) Ashley DeSandre (Outstanding KU Undergraduate Major for Teaching), Travis Rogers (Outstanding KU Community Health Major), and Whitney Moore (Outstanding Graduate Student in Research). HSES is very proud of our students who have worked so hard and are so committed to their professional development. Congratulations!

Sport Management & Marketing Club On the Move

The Sport Management & Marketing Club had its beginnings over 20 years ago, and is still going strong today. Under the guidance of their faculty advisor Dr. Bernie Kish, meetings include guest speakers from the sports business world. The club also supports events such as the Dr. Bob Run this past year. Members pictured at left (L to R) are A.J. Gonzalez, Patrick Watkins (sec’y-treas.), Colin Dempsey & Jace Tenbrink (president). Above are members Misty Powelson, Jill Hartman (vice president) & Dane Leecy.

This ‘n That

Check out the new KU Strong Girls web site; kustronggirls.org
This exciting program provides physical activities and positive life skills for both 3rd-5th grade girls as well as numerous KU student mentors. Check out the latest activities and see what a great asset this program is for HSES and KU.

Who Is This?

Exercise Physiology Ph.D. student Mike Lane performs the stone lift on his way to winning the 200 lbs. weight class at the December 17th Hope for the Holidays Charity Strongman contest in St. Louis. Way to go Mike!